Word Study Guide: Charlie and the Chocolate Factory

Test: September 11, 2015: Study hard!

Precious (closed, vowel team) is an adjective that means worth a lot of money or greatly loved. You are precious to your family. Preciousness is the noun form; preciously is the adverb.

Escort (closed, rcontrol) is a verb or a noun. The verb means to take someone someplace, so the noun means someone who takes someone someplace. When you are sick, we have a friend escort you to the nurse.

Dawdle (vowel team, cle) is a verb that means to waste time or move slowly. If you don't want to go somewhere, you might dawdle. Dawdled and dawdling are the other verb forms. The noun form is dawdler.

Proceeding (open, vowel team, closed) can be a verb that means going forward, or a noun that means an event. It is related to the word procedure. I saw a parade proceeding down the main street of the town.

Churning (rcontrol, closed) is a verb or an adjective. Churn is a noun that means a type of machine that is used to make butter from cream by mixing it. The verb form means to mix. The word can be used literally or figuratively. My feelings were churning in my chest.

Insist (closed, closed) is a verb that means to demand something. I insist that you treat one another respectfully. We can add verb suffixes with no spelling change: insisted, insisting. The noun form is insistence.
